Magazine for print media companies - edition sign, screen and large format
What is the driving force behind the transformation of your administration? Daring!

"+ 45% greater efficiency through automation"

In recent decades, the printing industry has grown from a craft to a capital-intensive, customer oriented, process-driven industry. The success of any graphic company depends on the smart deployment of employees and machines and the efficient organisation of administration, production and logistics. In other words, it's what makes the difference between so-so business results and fantastic ones.

Companies that are able to optimise production costs and work in a highly customer focused way are seeing many opportunities for the taking, right now. Like your fellow entrepreneurs, you can learn a lot by looking at the approach taken by best-practice companies in your sector. That's why Dataline has also compiled a wealth of clear testimonials and product information.

Did you know that MultiPress Business Software from Dataline is the European market leader and has already provided administrative automation for printing companies all over the world (sign, screen and large format)? Our Project Managers have just the right know-how and experience to deliver fantastic results for your company, too. Our aim is nothing less. How do we make it happen? Find out in this magazine. More details and prices are available by clicking the weblinks.

Here's to fascinating reading, job satisfaction and fantastic results.
